To Whom It May Concern

I have known Luboslav Ivanko since his study at The Academy of the Armed Forces. I started a small business as a local internet provider and as I know about his skills from school I decided to ask him for some help. He is very technically skilled and computer literate so he was very useful to me. Since April 2003 we were working together, mostly networking our new clients, and solving hardware and software problems for our clients. Later, he worked in our company shop on various tasks related to IT & Computer Networks (PC hardware and software maintenance, data entry, networks troubleshooting, web design)

As I mentioned above, Luboslav Ivanko possess mostly computer related skills. He is a very good programmer, but it seems like every task including computers poses no problem to him. I must also say that he is not only an „office worker“ as he was able to fieldwork when he was asked to. He is really very flexible and willing to accomplish any task given to him. He has no problem keeping deadlines and all the work assigned to him has been always done properly and on time. Mr. Ivanko has also good manners and communication skills, so he was always able to communicate with our clients on professional level.

It was unfortunate for me and Alconet, Ltd. when he decided he would like to start work for another company in Jun 2004. I recommend him without reservation for any position or career that he may now seek to pursue. He will be a valuable asset for any organization.

If you have any additional questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Ing. Branislav Brtka, CCNA
